August 21-While politics has been strenuously prevalent the past week, when some candidates for saloon-license commissioner were called everything almost but murderers, the coming Canfield fair has been a topic very much uppermost in certain sections, especially in and about the court house and party headquarters. The chances are the fair will be largely like a grand convocation or outside overflow of politicians and candidates, and hence will draw very largely from Youngstown, for Youngstown has a monopoly of aspirants and nominees for official jobs.
